

Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE DISTRIBUTION:

11/28/11

Society of Professional Locksmiths Training Program - FREE ONLINE ACCESS

Professional Locksmiths, apprentices, students and individuals seeking to become a locksmith can now enjoy a completely FREE locksmith educational package made available online with no registration. Web surfers can easily access a 12 Chapter basic locksmith course 24/7 365 days a year with no log in required by simply visiting the Society of Professional Locksmiths website and looking under the Education menu. Proficiency testing is optional at a cost of only $10 per chapter with a downloadable record of course completion.

“The Society of Professional Locksmiths is opening the door to anyone interested in becoming a locksmith. There are a lot of people out there who are struggling and desire opportunities and the SOPL is offering just that with a Christmas gift to our industry,” Society founder Tom Lynch, CRL explains. “These courses are what we consider core essentials or basic mandatory topics which are an essential foundation and serve as a gateway into our craft.”

“Locksmiths who are not members of the SOPL can also opt into the live virtual classrooms to work with an instructor on additional or more advanced topic information,” said Barry Campbell, Managing Director. “Offering this service allows everyone to prepare for certification, train new employees, and challenges themselves with a test and earn proof of training to help them get started into a career. Those who join the membership will have access to much more, including actual SOPL certification.”

FREE online courses can be found listed under the Education menu option.

Contact Society of Professional Locksmiths Managing Director Barry Campbell for additional information – email: altic.lock@gmail.com for more details

END -